

Say NO to Corruption. Say NO to Mark Hill

81 Reasons Mark Hill is No Bueno for Frisco

These are my reasons. On May 2, 2026, the people of Frisco need just one!!

1. Because Mark Hill had his chance and he blew it. Mark Hill shouldn't be rewarded for that.
2. Because real leaders don't need to abuse their power, public office, or positions to lead effectively.
3. Because unity isn't built on hidden agendas, retaliation, and political theater. Frisco deserves honesty — not corruption.
4. Because Frisco deserves real leadership, not corruption dressed up as community spirit.
5. Because Mark Hill's actions on empowering the community don't start with truth — they start with retaliation and deception.
6. Because keeping Frisco strong means protecting it from corruption — not electing it.
7. Because Mark Hill's record shows retaliation, secrecy, and self-interest. Frisco deserves integrity. Say NO to Mark Hill.
8. Because Mark Hill's history and motives prove he is not a fit leader for any public office.
9. Because silence in the face of misconduct IS complicity.
10. Because Frisco deserves accountability, not ambition.
11. Because ethics aren't optional for leadership.
12. Because Mark Hill was the wrong choice for Frisco ISD. He is the wrong choice now for Mayor of Frisco.

13. Because leadership means accountability — not weaponizing power against the vulnerable.
14. Because Frisco deserves a Mayor who lifts people up, not one who retaliates against them.
15. Because no one seeking public office should be tied to patterns of retaliation, secrecy, or abuse of influence.
16. Because Frisco can't afford leaders who silence critics instead of fixing problems.
17. Because those who misuse systems of power should never be promoted to higher office.
18. Because real leaders defend the community — they don't destabilize the people in it.
19. Because when corruption is ignored, it grows — and Frisco deserves better than that.
20. Because you don't stop corruption by rewarding the people who enable it.
21. Because the Mayor's office is not a shield for misconduct.
22. Because Frisco needs integrity, not influence networks.
23. Because ethical governance is not optional — it's foundational.
24. Because Mark Hill's history raises questions Frisco voters deserve honest answers to.
25. Because those who contributed to coordinated misconduct should not be trusted with more power.
26. Because ambition without integrity is dangerous.
27. Because someone who destabilizes others shouldn't lead a growing city.
28. Because Frisco needs a Mayor focused on public service — not personal damage control.
29. Because Mark Hill's pattern of decisions shows who he is — and it's not the leader Frisco deserves.
30. Because Frisco deserves a Mayor free from hidden agendas and political self-preservation.
31. Because leadership is earned through truth and accountability, not backroom alliances and retaliation.
32. Because protecting Frisco means standing up to those who have misused their positions.

33. Because when those in power retaliate, everyone is at risk.
34. Because Mark Hill is out of touch with reality. A risk the people of Frisco cannot afford to take.
35. Because Frisco deserves leaders who solve problems — not create them behind the scenes.
36. Because no city thrives when those in power place personal interests above public trust.
37. Because the future of Frisco should be built on truth, transparency, and accountability — not retaliation and hidden agendas.
38. Because when Mark Hill and his cohorts force you into homelessness for exposing fraud, you consider running against him for Mayor of Frisco in 2026.
39. Because the people of Frisco should matter — not a select few.
40. Because on May 2, 2026, you should Say NO to Corruption. Say NO to Mark Hill.
41. Because Frisco does not need and should not tolerate an attorney as Mayor, on the rebound from a campaign of sham litigation and whistleblower retaliation.
42. Because the people of Frisco shouldn't trust Mark Hill to sweep their floors.
43. Because leadership requires integrity — not selective accountability and hidden agendas.
44. Because Frisco deserves a Mayor who answers to the people, not to his private alliances.
45. Because Frisco needs a builder of trust, not an architect of retaliation.
46. Because public office should be earned through service — not salvaged through political rebranding.
47. Because a real leader protects the vulnerable, not punishes them.
48. Because no one should ascend to public office on the back of retaliatory litigation.
49. Because abusing legal systems is not leadership — it's misconduct.
50. Because the people of Frisco shouldn't reward weaponized influence with the Mayor's office.
51. Because anyone who retaliates in the shadows cannot be trusted in the spotlight.
52. Because real unity cannot be built by someone who uses litigation to silence critics.

53. Because transparency isn't optional for a Mayor — it's the job.
54. Because Frisco deserves a Mayor whose first instinct is honesty, not concealment.
55. Because the public's trust is sacred — not a tool to be bent to personal agendas.
56. Because a city as strong as Frisco deserves leaders as ethical as its people.
57. Because Frisco deserves a leader who tells the truth when no one is watching.
58. Because Mark Hill's record speaks louder than his campaign slogans.
59. Because past behavior predicts future leadership — and Frisco should pay close attention.
60. Because real leaders don't need to reinvent themselves when accountability closes in.
61. Because integrity isn't a brand — it's a pattern, and Mark Hill's isn't one of leadership.
62. Because Frisco can't afford a Mayor who brings his baggage to City Hall.
63. Because Frisco's future shouldn't be shaped by someone tied to misconduct.
64. Because the people of Frisco matter more than political preservation.
65. Because our community deserves protection from corruption — not representation by it.
66. Because Frisco thrives when its leaders are accountable, not insulated.
67. Because strong communities reject weak ethics.
68. Because in Frisco, no one should lose everything for simply telling the truth.
69. Because leadership requires courage — not retaliation against those who show it.
70. Because when truth-tellers are punished, every resident is at risk.
71. Because this city deserves leaders who uplift the people — not tear down the vulnerable.
72. Because the story of Frisco should be one of integrity, not intimidation.
73. Because Mark Hill's campaign is toxic before it even begins.
74. Because Frisco deserves leaders who protect the justice system — not those who manipulate it behind the scenes.

- 75. Because the legal system isn't a weapon for personal retaliation, and anyone who treats it that way should never be Mayor.
- 76. Because public power should never be used to deceive courts, pressure critics, or distort the truth.
- 77. Because Frisco can't trust anyone who has used legal processes to punish the people they should have protected.
- 78. Because integrity in office starts with honesty in court — and Frisco deserves nothing less.
- 79. Because a leader who bends systems to serve himself cannot be trusted to serve the people.
- 80. Because Frisco needs leaders who respect the rule of law — not those who weaponize it for personal agendas.
- 81. Because the people of Frisco deserve transparency, not someone who hides behind legal maneuvering and backroom strategy.
